

2022-2023 LRF Lymphoma Rounds COVID-19 Safety, Travel and Cancellation Policy

Updated December 1, 2022

Event Cancellation

- LRF is unable to offer a hybrid version of these programs. If LRF is unable to hold the program in person as scheduled, alternate virtual plans will be communicated to all attendees as far in advance as possible.
- Participants who test positive for COVID-19 or have a close contact test positive within 5 days prior to the Rounds program should not travel to or attend the program.

Vaccination

- All LRF staff, faculty, and program participants must show proof vaccination and protected against COVID-19 as defined by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (you are up to date with your COVID-19 vaccines when you have received the primary series or a booster within the last 12 months). All attendees to the program will be required to adhere to LRF's health and safety guidelines.
- All participants must provide proof of vaccination to LRF to attend the program. You may upload proof of vaccination prior to the program or show proof of vaccination on site. Additional direction on uploading proof of vaccination status will be provided in advance of the program. Please note that attendees who are unable to provide proof of vaccination will be denied entry to the event.

On-Site Health Policy

- If local infection rates warrant, all participants may be asked to test negative for COVID-19 up to 24 hours prior to travel to the meeting.
- Where possible, Lymphoma Rounds venues will allow for social distancing. In addition, LRF may limit attendance due to venue capacity. Masking is strongly encouraged but not required during Lymphoma Rounds programs. Masks will be readily available from LRF staff throughout the program.
- Lymphoma Rounds presentations and the provision of food and beverages will take place in the same room. Participants will be provided a buffet dinner. Please note that attendees will have the option to take their dinner home in a to-go box should they choose not to eat in the room in which the program takes place. Optional networking will take place prior to the start of the formal presentations in the exhibit space located outside of the presentation room.
- Safety is at the forefront of LRF's event planning. Please note that any attendee who tests positive for COVID or reports possible symptoms after arriving to the venue will promptly be asked to leave the premises.
